[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 4

New York News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Western Union Telegraph 46½. Pacific Mail was favorably affected by the action of the Chamber of Commerce, which to-day passed resolutions requesting Congress to grant the Company a sufficient subsidy to enable it to run steamers in the China line semi-monthly, instead of monthly.

Col. Whitley, of the secret service department, and his associates, have been engaged for over a month in ferreting out one of the most notorious gangs of counterfeiters in the country, and have just brought their labors to a successful close. It was first ascertained that a dangerous 60 ct. stamp was being offered to enterprising tobacco merchants at about one fifth the government price,—three dollars buying stamps sold by the government at nineteen dollars and twenty cents. The inducements were so great that many firms heretofore of an unblemished reputation, in this city, Virginia, North Carolina, and other States, purchased large lots. The first arrest was made October 15th, of a man named Wright, together with a portion of the tools used in the manufacture of the counterfeit stamp. Since then a number of other arrests were made, including Hart Pierce, an accomplished engraver of this city, with a quantity of dies and machinery used in counterfeiting. Col. Robert Clark, who commanded the 14th New York Volunteers during the war, was taken, and found with plates for several denominations of tobacco stamps, several hundred sheets of counterfeit stamps, and about $15,000 worth of genuine. The main manufactory was discovered in the woods on Staten Island, where several of the gang were arrested and a large quantity of paper, ink, dies, presses, and thousands of sheets ready for use, were found. They next discovered an engraver in Boston, who had been an accomplished engraver of United States five-twenty bonds. The officers went there, arrested him, and found a thousand dollar bond which he had been employed to engrave, by a man in this city. It is alleged that numerous other prominent persons are under suspicion and surveillance. It is believed that several thousand dollars of these bogus stamps have been issued and disposed of.

Colored People's Celebration in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The colored people of this city and State with many from the District of Columbia and from other States, celebrated the anniversary of emancipation with enthusiasm. The procession was several miles long, composed of a number of benevolent societies, trade associations, etc. Bishop Hyman delivered the address this afternoon.

Frightful Calamity.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The dwelling of Nathan Dawny, at Harwich, Mass., was burned last evening. His only children, two little girls of six and four years, perished. The parents were visiting a neighbor.

Internal Revenue Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Supervisor Fulton, of the Massachusetts District, has been assigned to duty in California, where he will make a thorough investigation of revenue affairs.

New York Legislature.

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—The House of Assembly stands 71 Democrats to 57 Republicans.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

MADRID, Nov. 4.—Admiral Topete insists on tendering his resignation as a member of the cabinet.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—It is now asserted that the recent contemplated interview between Emperor Francis Joseph and King Victor Emanuel will take place at Brindisi, in the latter part of November.

A correspondent of the Post writes from Rome concerning the expected action of the Council. The dogmatic definition of the assumption of the Virgin Mary will encounter no obstacle. The Pope earnestly desires the confirmation of this dogma. The erection into a dogma of the necessity of the temporal power of the Pope is not considered probable by its most earnest champions. The foundation and preservation of that power don't afford the elements of a dogma, and the belief in its necessity is not even proxima fide, but only of high importance. Probably the protest of 1862 and 1867 will be received. It is suggested that the liberal Bishops will advise that terms be made with the Kingdom of Italy so that all appointments of the Pope may be conferred without destruction of nationality, but such a change of policy, although desirable, is impossible at present, and must be left to time and the force of events. The Council does not have the initiative with respect to the syllabus. It would be absurd to think the syllabus will be abrogated. It is more probable that the Bishops will be asked to sanction it by an open unanimous adhesion and to explain such portions as are obscurely worded or erroneously interpreted. Beyond these points the Council will only be occupied with questions of internal discipline, such as the reform of missions, reunion of schismatists and heretics with the church, modifications of religious orders, amelioration of instructions to clergy, and the adaptation of the judicial powers of the Bishops to the condition of society. It is important to observe that the initiative in everything belongs to the Pope alone. As the Roman Catholic hierarchy is strongly and judiciously constituted, it is improbable that any serious opposition will be manifested.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—A dispatch from Alexandria announces the arrival of the Empress Eugenie at the terminus of the canal.

The specie in the Bank of France decreased 2,200,000 francs during the week. Many electoral meetings have been held in the city. The proceedings were orderly and in no instance was the interference of the police required.

FROM THE NORTH

VICTORIA, Nov. 4.—News from the mainland to-day, indicates a new strike of rich placer diggings on the Findlay branch of Peace river. The diggings were struck by a prospecting party, who returned for provisions, bringing eight thousand dollars in gold. Many Carriboo miners are preparing to moving up to the new diggings, which are said to exceed Carriboo diggings in richness.

The committee have decided to rebuild Christ's Church Cathedral of stone. The funds will be mostly raised in England.

The municipal election comes off on Tuesday next. Trimble and McDonald are in the field for Mayor.

Professor Morey is playing at the theater. Wilson's Circus is expected here to-night.

VICTORIA, Nov. 5.—The races advertised to come off on the 9th inst. at Victoria, are postponed till the day following.

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—The steamer George S. Wright arrived here this morning from Portland via Olympia, with the Great World Circus on board. She experienced a severe southeast gale off Cape Flattery on Monday night. Six valuable horses and other animals belonging to the circus were washed overboard.

AN EDITORIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.—The following "card" appears in the editorial columns of the Newbern (N. C.) Times of September 18th:

Having been intruded upon while attending to my duties at the Times office, I take this occasion to say that I am tired of having every person who happens to be in a fighting mood step to the door and ask me out, and this is to inform all who have already done this thing and such as expect to do so hereafter, that I do not advertise to be a prize fighter, and have never carried, nor intend to carry, concealed weapons, but that I shall continue to defend this paper and its friends against all attacks, without fear or favor, shall not consult the taste of any pugilist, but rather be governed by a sense of justice toward myself and those whose principles I advocate. I shall continue to walk the streets of this city at my leisure when I have occasion to do so and no threats of chastisement will prevent me from going where I have occasion to in the discharge of my business.
F. H. STERNS.

POLITICAL

Brick Pomeroy's Democrat makes the inquiry: "How, in the name of God, will or can the people trust our leaders when they will not trust each other and prove by their honesty, bravery, Democracy, and devotion to principle, that they are more intent on public good than private gain, and the gratification of personal spite?" We give it up.

Free trade is a great hobby with England. She means it. She is in downright earnest about it. She wants it for her products sent abroad. But how is it with foreign productions consumed in that country? Take the item of tobacco. She derives a larger revenue from American tobacco imported into England, than the United States does from its entire tariff on all goods imported from Great Britain. What is free trade?

A revelation of an interesting character is made by Brick Pomeroy, in the New York Democrat. He charges that in the last National Democratic Convention, Pendleton was defeated by money, and Seymour nominated to be "killed" off. Hoffman was run for Governor, to be elected, and he was. "Hoffman, as Governor," he says, "helps the Erie railway." And "the Erie railway throws the vote of about 7,000 men, working on the railroad near Cincinnati, for Hayes, to defeat Pendleton, and get him out of the way for Hoffman in 1872," when a "clear sweep" will be made for the "benefit of bondholders." And believers in greenbacks, in this State, are expected to return good for evil, and help on the conspiracy!

"And you, too, Brutus." The Louisville Courier-Journal mingles its crocodile tears with the copious flow of the World, over the defeat of Pendleton, and coolly informs him that he must stand aside for Hendricks or Hoffman. But why Hendricks? He cannot carry his own State, any more than Pendleton can his? The Journal really means Hoffman. But the latter is a confessed "dodger." He has no convictions, except the conviction that Tammany and the Governor want to elevate John T. Hoffman to the Presidential chair. To do that, he will profess one set of principles at Albany, at Buffalo will admit that he was "dodging" at the Capital, and will subsequently repudiate all he has said at both places.

OREGON.

"Occasional" writes from Oregon City: "The jury in the Vaughn case were all Democrats, and the twenty additional jurors ordered to be summoned, were all K. Ks., but two. Bully for a Democratic Sheriff! Murder in this county is justified by all the K. Ks. and their officers. They had a jubilee last night, after the acquittal."

The Southern Commercial Convention, recently in session at Louisville, held that the value of an immigrant settler is just $1,500. This may do as an estimate for that portion of the country, but it is much too low for Oregon. Here the "immigrant settler" is worth much more to the country than $1,500. His labor for two years is worth fully this sum.

The Polk County Times declares that "if a radical Congress refuses to pay the amount of the Southern claims, they will have not one bit of reason to complain if the people refuse to pay the shoddy bondholder." It is quite remarkable how persistently these Democratic Bourbons continue to insist that the South shall be paid for its rebellion. They will never learn anything.

The Corvallis Mercury thinks that to be consistent, "the OREGONIAN and other protectionists, should clamor for a tariff on wagons of eastern manufacture," inasmuch as they can be brought to this market from Chicago and sold cheaper than our own wagon makers can manufacture them. To be consistent the Corvallis paper should "clamor" for the total exclusion from Oregon of articles manufactured in the east, inasmuch as their importation here will tend inevitably to reduce the wages of our workmen.

Fearful Tragedy.

[From the Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche.]

On last Sunday night, in Lincoln county, in this State, was perpetrated one of those deeds of blood the recital of which makes the hair stand on end. The tragedy originated, as many of them do, in women. The history of the event is peculiar. Two men, named Baugh and Holloway, belonging to Lincoln county, Elk river, went into Alabama some months ago and took away a good looking loose young woman named Pye. She lived in the neighborhood of Scrouge Church, in Northern Alabama, and had been, in company with two others, great favorites with a circle of young scamps. Baugh and Holloway lured away Miss Pye from these young fellows, and took her into the Pea Ridge section, where they trotted her round. The young fools of Scrouge Church Cross Roads were much incensed at the taking away of their favorite girl, and vowed vengeance.

Three months passed, and the affair was beginning to wear out of their minds, when the two men who had spirited away the woman Pye, made their appearance again in the neighborhood of Scrouge Church. The young fellows became aware of the fact, and turning out in great force after dark, they scoured the country and captured the two obnoxious chaps in a wood, and whipped them pretty severely and let them go. Of course this led to the cultivation of bad blood. Baugh and Holloway made the best of their way to Pea Ridge, and placed themselves under the care of the Pye. She nursed them until their sores were healed over, and they were again fit to go on the "war path." They proceeded to the south bank of Elk river and commenced firing into the house of a person named Bledsoe, whose sons had taken part in the whipping. They peppered the house pretty freely, and made things lively there for a time. Old Bledsoe returned the fire, and compelled the besiegers to retreat. Finding that they could do but little in that direction, they gave up the idea of inflicting punishment just then, but concluded to await another opportunity. On going back they unfortunately encountered one of Bledsoe's men, and they immediately commenced operations on him. Putting their pistols to his bosom, they compelled him to go on his knees and repeat after them the following formula.

"I'm a lousy dog, I beg your pardon for taking part in whipping of Daby's room. I have no claim to the girl Pye, she is too good for such as I; I promise never to have anything to do with her, I'm a mean cur and a son of a ——."

After this they let him go home. Some days afterwards both Baugh and Holloway got into company with a still hunter, a fellow who was going as United States revenue agent. They visited several places and drank freely, and in the night time, while riding through the woods shouting and cursing, they found themselves in the neighborhood of of Scrouge Church, and surrounded by a crowd of bushwhackers, who commenced firing on them. They returned the fire, and for a few minutes the dark woods rang with the sound of cracking rifles and of human [illegible] as raised high in blasphemy. The fire [illegible] when it long as there was ammunition [illegible] was found that Baugh and Holloway were shot [illegible] actually riddled with bullets, their bo[illegible] pretty liberally perforated also, and the three United States men who were with [illegible] had their clothing holed but escaped. [illegible] whole hides. Besides these casualties [illegible] there were four of the attacking party [illegible] by bullets also. It was a perfectly [illegible] affair. It is said that the animals ridden by Holloway and Baugh were stolen. The young woman, Pye, as soon as she heard of the fight, picked up her traps and bundled together some money which her paramours had hidden, and made the best of her way toward Jackson. All the parties concerned in the tragedy are represented as being disreputable and low.

FRESHEST GLEANINGS.

Boston wishes to have a "Congress" of all the one hundred mile pedestrians in the country next month. Three prizes are to be offered—one of $100, with a silver champion cup, one of $70 and a third of $50.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said an Irish barrister, "it will be for you to say whether this defendant shall be allowed to come into court with unblushing footsteps, with the cloak of hypocrisy in his mouth, and to withdraw three bullocks out of my client's pocket with impunity."

It is said that General Banks learned the printing trade, when a young man, in the office of the Boston Traveler. Mrs. Banks, when a girl, also worked in the same office. They left the Traveler office to start a weekly paper in Waltham, Massachusetts, which was carried on for some time, with the aid of one "jour printer."

Under the heading "Another Hash-house Busted," the White Pine Empire has the following: "Another hash-house 'toured the sponge' yesterday. The same old crowd of hash-house busters patronized it for one week, only. We are not saying anything, but Ben Hereford was yesterday seen hanging around Ski Julian's, and it is surmised for the purpose of engaging board. He is spotted, however, and will not be allowed to to create a famine in White Pine if it can possibly be avoided."

Commissioner Delano has received a letter from Supervisor Bloomfield, in Illinois, showing that Tazewell county, Illinois, for the year ending Sept. 20, 1868, paid a revenue tax of $134,000 from all sources, and for the year ending Sept. 20, 1869 paid a tax of $518,000. During the former year all of the distilleries in Pekin were run most of the time, and the tax for the greater part of that period was $2 per gallon. During the present year only one distillery was run constantly, and it alone paid a tax of $135,000, being more than the whole county paid the previous year.

Kicking a man when he is down is not generally considered a chivalrous proceeding, but it is one in which the Democrats are extensively indulging at the expense of Mr. Pendleton. The World, besides pitching into him on its own account, publishes a letter from Cincinnati headed "The Cause of Mr. Pendleton's Defeat, the [illegible] Issue Repudiated in Ohio." The writer says that through Gen. Rosecrans' declination and Mr. Pendleton's appointment, the Ohio Democracy "were forced to assume the [illegible] of the new candidate, which cannot be crammed down the throats of those opposed to flooding the country with an enormous issue of irredeemable paper currency."

Charles Dickens [illegible] says: "The one serviceable, safe, certain, remunerative, attainable quality in every study and in every pursuit is the quality of attention. My own invention or imagination, such as it is, I can most truthfully [illegible] you would never have [illegible] me as it has but for the habit of commonplace, humble, patient, daily, toiling, drudging attention. Genius, vivacity, quickness of penetration, brilliancy in association of ideas—such [illegible] qualities, like the qualities of the apparition of the [illegible] head in 'Macbeth,' will not be commanded; but attention, after due term of submissive [illegible], always will. Like certain plants which the [illegible] may grow in the poorest soil, it can be cultivated by any one, and it is certain in its own good season to bring forth flowers and fruit."

A Political Dilemma

The Eastern Democracy never liked Mr Pendleton the idol of their Western brethren and the New York World the organ of the Belmont bondholders rubs Gentleman George s defeat into him with ferocious joy It says that last fall Seymour was made to carry weight by the favor which the Convention gave to Pendleton s financial views but it is gratified that this is all over now Pendleton cannot come up again, and the 'bloated bondholders of the party have it all their own way.

Pendleton and his theories are crushed not less by the Democratic triumph in New York than by the Republican triumphs elsewhere Tammany, which is now at the head of the Democratic organization, will have no more greenback platforms Last year they tolerated such a platform and were defeated This year Pendleton himself is crushed but the New York Democrats, who are known to be in favor of paying the debt, principal and interest, in gold, carry their State and vindicate their claim to control the party and dictate its policy. Nothing therefore is left for the Western Democrats, admirers of Pendleton and supporters of the greenback theory, but to accept the domination of the goldpaying, bondholding New Yorkers, or revolt and endeavor to maintain their principles by separate and independent action

The time approaches when the Democratic party of Oregon must meet this issue What course will they take? We all know how dear to them the theories of Pendleton are, we all remember how they have contended for paying the debt in greenbacks and taxing bonds It cannot but be remembered how vehemently they have denounced the idea of paying the debt in gold, and how persistently they have asserted that such a course as this would chain down the laboring classes at the feet of a monied aristocracy. Now what is to be their course in future? Will they cling to Pendleton, with his repudiated and buried theories, or will they quietly accept the doctrines of the Belmont bondholders? Are we to have in the forthcoming Democratic platform a re-affirmance of Pendleton's ideas? That would be supremely foolish, for those ideas are now practically obsolete Are we to have an acceptance of the doctrine of the Eastern Democrats that the bonds are to be paid in gold? That would be a sacrifice of everything which Democratic authorities out here have been telling was involved in our political struggles, and an acceptance of a policy which they have been continually asserting would ruin the people and establish the tyranny of the money power

We would like to hear from some of our Democratic contemporaries in Oregon on this subject. Is the national debt to be paid in greenbacks, or not? Will they submit to the domination of the monied aristocrats of New York who now claim the leadership, or will they revolt, recalcitrate, and go it as strong as ever for their old theories?

A Hungry Howl.

The Herald wails. The Common Council has cut off some of its "sustenance," and it blubbers right out. It called for "retrenchment," and got it in a way it didn't expect. And don't it whine and howl and rub its grubby fist in its eyes, and call names in a shocking manner! The Common Council it [illegible] has hit it "where it lives." It has had the public pap so long that it don't know how to live without it, and this summary way of cutting it off or greatly reducing it causes the most lugubrious howls ever heard in Portland. Retrenchment is a good thing in the "organ's" opinion, but that the amount of city printing should be curtailed is monstrous! But the Council, says the "organ," "will find that their little game will not work. Ordinances will not be of binding effect on anybody without being duly published." We fear this is a poor reliance for the hungry pap-sucker The Council has never printed half its ordinances in a newspaper, yet those not so printed are quite as valid as those which the 'organ' has been paid for publishing. But it need not give itself any uneasiness on this head The OREGONIAN will take the trouble to obtain at the Clerk's office a copy of such ordinances as may be of public interest, and print the same. They will thus obtain wider circulation than they could possibly get through the "organ" Retrenchment is now the word, and the city must save enough to make up for that extravagant outlay for the Seward reception, which the Herald so fiercely condemned! So the "organ' may as well calm its frantic rage, and begin to look for means of living in some other way than by such large drafts as it has been making on the city treasury. It threatens to wreak the most terrible vengeance on the members of the Council who have cut off its supplies. Better not waste time on such an enterprise as his. Better turn attention to something that will pay Better subside quietly, and put a stop as quickly as possible to the ridiculous spectacle of a big urchin blubbering for a bowl of mush and milk! Are we to take the Herald's exhibition of disappointment and rage about this matter as an indication of its fear that it will not be able to live unless it is fastened perpetually on the bounty of the tax-payers? Its exclamations on this subject sound very much like that of the old usurer —

You take my life
When you do take the means whereby I live

Imperialism Unveiled

It is, perhaps, cruel to twit the Democracy with unpleasant facts at a time like this when they are sorely depressed; but we cannot help remarking that recent developments show that the lately famous organ of the T C I. O league, The Imperialist, was principally sustained by Democratic subscriptions A writer in the Galaxy, a leading magazine, for whom the editor vouches, asserts that the Tammany Ring, [illegible] that it was making a [illegible] thing out of [illegible] the publication of The Imperialist [illegible] upon the [illegible] dicals helped it with large subsidies of money, and when it found that this audacious paper was [illegible] to succumb—as it since has succumbed—to the weight of universal obloquy, Tammany made an offer of one hundred dollars a week to sustain the concern Several prominent Democrats gave it money on their own accounts and one who was the very loudest in denouncing the T. C I O as a Radical society, was a heavy contributor to the project On no occasion, it is said, did a Republican contribute to support this revolutionary journal. The Herald, which was as loud as any in trying—perhaps according to its orders to fasten the T C I. O upon the G A R, representing these two societies as co ordinate institutions, would be benefitted if not enlightened by a perusal of this Galaxy article If anything could justify people in trying to overthrow democracy and establish imperialism in this country it would be this revelation of the utter recklessness of the leaders of one of the great parties of the country as to its means of success

The American Marine

A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser gives some suggestive facts relative to the decay of shipbuilding in Maine It is quite usual he remarks to attribute the present great decadence in ship building to the rebellion and the devastations committed by the rebel cruisers This undoubtedly very materially contributed to the destruction of our carrying trade—a matter in which before the rebellion we were a formidable rival of Great Britain But so far as ship building is concerned especially that of wooden ships in which Maine excelled the causes producing the present prostration had an origin beyond the Alabama and Florida's ravages and more fatal than the heavy taxes, internal and tariff, now laid upon all articles purchased abroad and used in the construction of vessels The cause is the change of materials used in ship building Before the war it was evident to shrewd men that iron would take the place of wood and that ship builders must govern themselves accordingly The Maine men did not choose to observe, and it is very doubtful if they can now do so Their yards are here idle in the main, the workmen are here also, but whether both can be transformed so as to build iron ships is a problem " There is another suggestion which this writer makes The labor required to construct a ship of six hundred tons costs in Maine $7,000 more than in Nova Scotia Here then, are the two points to be considered in connection with the decay of American ship building By reason of her cheap labor and abundance of cheap iron which now enters more largely than formerly into the construction of ships Great Britain has an immense advantage over this country which cannot speedily be counteracted

Three stalwart laborers of the "rat-eating infidel persuasion were passing and re passing our door yesterday, doing work for the Herald again Citizen from one of the 'rural deestricks' stood on the street for some minutes watching them enter the Herald office, and remarked that "if he were a Chinaman blamed if he d work for the establishment " Why don't the Knights of the Horny Hand look after the delinquencies of their organ in this matter We hear it stated that while Chinamen are running the Herald these Knights still stick to their old occupation of loafing on the corners and inquiring in doleful tones, What the d—l is to become of our laboring classes?

CONSOLATION

Funeral Services over Pendleton and Greenbacks

How Gentleman George has been Shelved

The Cincinnati Enquirer, on the morning of the election, speaking as the authorized organ of Mr Pendleton, declared that "his defeat would be death to the greenback policy, as it would make that to which he is opposed the settled and unalterable policy of the country " This is all true but the Enquirer would have been equally justified in declaring that the defeat of Greenbacks in Ohio involved the annihilation of Mr Pendleton's future as Presidential aspirant. This has all come to pass—Pendleton and greenbacks have sunk into a common grave, and the fact seems to be conceded by the candid political journals of his own party For instance the Louisville Courier-Journal disposes of him in this courteous but summary manner

"Mr. Pendleton stands to day by the side of Seymour of New York, as one of the purest and ablest of our public men It is a pleasure to think that—whatever their chances for the Presidency may be—they are still active and influential members of the Democratic party, and that we shall in our next National Convention, have the benefit of their disinterested counsel for it is idle to conceal from ourselves, what they certainly do not conceal from their own minds, that they are no longer in the immediate line of Democratic preferment. This defeat in Ohio disposes of Mr Pendleton for the present as effectually as the defeat last November disposed of Mr Seymour

HOW ABOUT CHASE?

This is tolerably clear Much more so in fact, than these speculations of the Courier as to who will step into Mr Pendleton's shoes It says

The prevailing idea seems to be that his defeat will, by some mysterious agency which is not very clearly explained, make Mr Chase a formidable candidate for the Democratic succession in 1872 That it has already made Mr Chase a much talked of personage we all know * * Mr Chase is an old man That he is an able man is true enough, but his very prominence, joined to his singular and long sustained zeal in pursuing the darling of his ambition, must weigh against him if the experience of the past be not totally reversed It was only after Mr Buchanan, who had made a fight of twenty five years for the Presidency had abandoned all hope of winning it, that it came to him unexpected and almost unbidden Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Seward Douglas, all sought it eagerly, but in vain while Harrison, Polk Taylor, Pierce and Lincoln got it apparently without an effort Such a prize is beyond the wit of man, and, if the wit of Mr Chase were ten times greater than it is, he could not effect, by so much as the shadow of an atom, a combination of circumstances embracing such a nation as this, able to secure a result so many years in advance of natural order and period

Then the Courier says Mr Chase s Democracy is not sufficiently pronounced, but, it adds—

There are likely to be plenty of chances for him to show his hand. He is Chief Justice of the United States, and it is only truth to say that in this character he has not yet displayed either the courage or the sagacity which would commend him to any party as its leader He and his Court have so far borne themselves as worthy and respectable milk sops We shall be glad to hear from them, and if Mr Chase is able to sound a revivifying bugle, whose notes are clear enough to rally the old Jacksonian line and to waken the very bones of Old Hickory himself it will be full time to consider him seriously as a Democratic possibility Meanwhile we shall treat him courteously and stick to something a little more substantial and reliable

NO HOPE FROM THE NORTHERN DEMOCRACY

This is the lesson the Memphis Avalanche extracts from the result in Ohio and Pennsylvania —the South has nothing to hope from the Northern Democracy they are in a hopeless, irrevocable minority and it confesses to a sense of relief at being relieved of that anxious solicitude with which it once watched their movements These speculations are not without interest as a south side view of the Democratic eclipse

It is again d[illegible] ra[illegible] od that the Democracy is powerless for good that we can never rescue the Government from the hand of Radicalism as long as that party clings to dead issues The war is ended slavery is dead reconstruction shows the Radical policy is an accomplished fact, and as Democratic party expects to beat back corruption and fanaticism it must make a clean sweep of the delusions start afresh determining to bear in patience what it cannot mend and to lend a hand to every honorable plan to lift our beloved country from the present depth of degradation It may cost many a pang, sharp [illegible] wrung to put forever from us the word Democrat, and to give up old ideas deeply ingrained every fiber and ligament of our hearts But the preservation of the Constitution and the great interests of the country demand that the National Democracy should make that sacrifice which the historic Democracy of old Virginia and the once unconquerable Democracy of Mississippi and Texas have made, by which they will yet be restored to their old pride and power Old fogies fogyism worn out [illegible] the rise and exploded dogmas must be discarded give way to men full of strength, vigor and elasticity, and who know the wants of the country now so entirely different to the wants of other days The result of the recent elections will help the people to learn the important lesson that it is folly to cling with blind devotion to the past and to fight against progress and destiny

Here is food for reflection Think of it The late rebel Democracy who took arms for slavery, endeavoring to force the Northern Democracy up to their advanced plane of political progress The war worked revolutions without number but this is surely the most marvellous The progressive movement of the opposition to the Republican party [illegible] in Ohio or Pennsylvania but south of the Ohio and the Potomac

[illegible]

The Columbus (Ohio) Crisis is a fair representative of Ohio Copperheadism It was formerly edited by Medary one of the old and strong leaders of the Democracy It says

The people of Ohio on Tuesday last were afflicted with an almost irreparable disaster in the election of Hayes and the defeat of George H Pendleton Worse than this the Legislature is probably Abolition and the infamous fraud called the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is adopted Mr Pendleton can afford his defeat but the people of Ohio cannot While we feel aggrieved at the result on his account we are still more deeply grieved at the declaration of the people indicated by the defeat

The Crisis goes on to say that it is the triumph of party slaves and political fanatics —and the people actually regard the bonds as legitimate

Those who have maintained the unfitness of men for self government and ridiculed the right of peoples to control themselves have been given some ground upon which to predicate their opinions in the last election, for in that the majority enslaved themselves to the bondholders accepted the public debt as legitimate confirmed the plot to mongrelize the country, and gave a long lease of power to the foulest organization of corrupt political robbers ever effected

Such is the amiable state of mind in which the genuine Copperhead finds himself when he finds that honor, patriotism integrity and human rights have triumphed in the glory and freedom of the country

[illegible]

The next paper we quote from is the Richmond Enquirer, the Democratic organ of Virginia for more that half a century It says

Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa held elections for the State officers of Tuesday last. In all these States the Democracy put forth their strongest men They had the prestige of such names as Pendleton Packer and Gillespie, and made a courageous fight, and, notwithstanding the Radicals had to carry the odium of the Fifteenth Amendment they have still triumphed over the Democratic party led by its ablest champions Everybody knows that negro suffrage is unpopular in the North It was defeated in Ohio two years ago by 50,000 majority; yet, so deep rooted is the hatred of the Northern people toward the Democratic party, that they have signified their willingness to accept negro suffrage in preference to accepting Democracy On Tuesday last the Democratic party of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Iowa fought the battle with every advantage The names of Pendleton and Packer inspired the full confidence of the party, and promised victory from the opening of the canvass Both were national men whose services would worthily fill the requirements of the widest sphere of public duty to which they might be called. Both have been named in a National Democratic Convention for the Presidency The unpopularity of the Fifteenth Amendment, which guarantees negro suffrage, was worth fifty thousand votes to the Democratic candidates Still they were defeated

It then says nothing in the future from the Northern Democracy can be expected

PRACTICAL ADVICE

The New York Herald thinks the late defeat is the turning point of the Democracy for the succession The "situation" it describes as follows

The Fifteenth Amendment is on the verge of a full ratification the Southern Democracy have entered into a new political league on things as as they are, while the Northern Democracy have been again defeated on their old issues, and in elections too in which indifference so far prevailed on the Republican side that it was expected these elections would go by default Nothing is changed North from the results of last year except the situation of the Northern wing of the late Democratic forces, which now stands alone, with much lost and nothing gained * * * * They (the Northern Democracy) have no policy now, or nothing but dead issues and a loose general policy of opposition to the administration They must reorganize to the living issues of the day and reorganize the nigger, and use him, as they are doing in the South In taking this step the Northern Democracy by the year 1872 will be upon the high road to the repossession of the government, for with proper encouragement, the Southern negro will give them that balance of power which was lost by his master in the rebellion "

To what base uses must we come at last Here is the infallible Herald oracularly preaching to our Pennsylvania negro haters that their only chance for political salvation depends upon capturing the 'nigger' and using him

The sum of the whole matter in regard to Pendleton is this When he became a candidate he accepted the chances and the issue, in hope of the Presidency in 72 Success would have made him the elect of the Democracy of the West and South Defeat was sure political death Defeat has come, and Gentleman George and his patent printing press debt extinguisher are both dead as salted codfish None so poor as to do him reverence The best thing he can do is to set up for a sage, and take to writing essays on the old old story of the might have beens of this unlucky world Hoffman is now to be hailed as the rising sun There is only one man to dispute with him for the leadership and that man is Salmon P Chase

Inquiries about Oregon

PORTLAND, Nov 1 1869

EDITOR OREGONIAN

If you deem the following letter of enquiry received last evening worthy, among scores of similar ones, which I am in daily receipt of from friends at the East, you are at full liberty to insert it in your excellent paper, together with this note

The lamentable ignorance of most men in the States about this whole Pacific coast, and particularly about the great resources of this State of Oregon seems passing strange to me! Cannot your new Emigration Society here write out, at length, a truthful pamphlet of Oregon its inexhaustible resources etc, and send it broad cast over the older States of this Union at the East? And would not such a useful publication induce thousands yes, and tens of thousands too, of capitalists farmers, laborers mechanics and others to come out here and to settle up this fertile and fruitful State speedily? I think it would and pay said Society handsomely besides

Yours, O B PHELPS

BUFFALO N Y, Oct 19 1869

O B Phelps Esq Dear Sir I saw and read you letter in the Tribune and as you expressed a willingness to answer any questions or reply to any letters seeking information I drop you this line Can one obtain plenty of land for grazing purposes near habitation or civilization without going too far away from everybody? Can one buy or lease land for this purpose I want to engage in the sheep raising business which I consider one of the most profitable of any business out Now my idea of Oregon is that it is just the place for this business Sheep will obtain their living the whole year without fodder is this not true Will you please write to me and give me the facts in reference to it I have had my attention turned to Western Texas where I have strong intentions of going to engage in the sheep raising business but on reading your letter I thought perhaps there might be a good chance where you are You will please excuse this trespassing upon your time, and if you will reply to it you will much oblige

THE VAUGHN MURDER TRIAL.—We have a report of the trial of Frank Vaughn this week in the Circuit Court for [illegible] County for the murder of Alex Larkins [illegible] The evidence is voluminous and much of it immaterial The testimony of Henry Welch seems to contain the gist of the evidence for the prosecution as to the killing, and we therefore give it in substance Was at Wm. Vaughn's in May last about 9 or 10 o clock in the morning Tom Inman John Jackson and Alex Larkin were with me We had a warrant from Inman [illegible] Wm Vaughn Inman told me to go also [illegible] John Jackson and Alex Larkin to go We were then on Ramsby's Lane We got our horses and Harvey Wright gave Alex Larkin a revolver We all then went down to Wm Vaughn s house I told Alex he had better go back as we were on the way He went on [illegible] Wm Vaughn and Dave Morris sat on the porch by the door. As we went to get off Wm Vaughn got up and went into the house We went into the hall [illegible] Inman said I will go back He only said I will go back He then went out of the door [illegible] I and Kinkead went to a window and looked through [illegible] Frank and Mrs Vaughn Mrs Vaughn told [illegible] [illegible] so did Frank Kinkead said we are [illegible] only Alex Larkin is armed Frank asked if Alex [illegible] Then Frank Vaughn opened the door and went out of the room I went into the hall and then [illegible] [Here witness explained the position [illegible] by a diagram] He, Frank went out of the hall [illegible] Don't know that he saw Larkins I did I saw [illegible] on the other side of the road facing me He whirled [illegible] he saw me and looked as though he was fixing [illegible] He turned and advanced toward Frank [illegible] said stop! Larkins hands were down at first and [illegible] when he walked toward Frank He [Frank] told him to stop, twice. Larkins said I am in the highway [illegible] Frank told him the third time to stop Alex said I will show you and made a motion with his right hand then Frank shot Larkins raised up The second shot Larkins dropped Then he [Frank] walked up and shot again—four times in all The last time Frank said [illegible] Larkins did stop. Frank Vaughn was outside the [illegible] when he commenced shooting—about three or five [illegible] I said last spring Larkins was about thirty feet out in the road I measured since and found it to be [illegible] feet from Larkins to Vaughn I did not know where Larkins was before the shooting Vaughn [illegible] [illegible] just before the last shot [illegible] last shot Larkins was down He was [illegible] Vaughn went back into the house after the last [illegible] Did not see Wm Vaughn nor hear him till it was [illegible] He was on the side of the road.

[illegible] on.—I met Alex Larkins about 8 o [illegible] on the morning of the difficulty in Ramsby s lane, about three fourths of a mile. He was there to see the [illegible] I heard around there was going to be some fun [illegible] who told me There were Jake Jackson, [illegible] Kinkead, Alex Larkins, Inman—about twelve men and boys. Constable requested me Kinkead and [illegible] to go and assist in the arrest of Wm Vaughn Did [illegible] anybody tell Larkins not to speak Wright gave Larkins a pistol and horse Constable and Larkins were all that were armed Larkins said this is what I have [illegible] to see. I told him to go back We hitched [illegible] and went in As we got off, Vaughn was on [illegible] No one said a word I made a motion with [illegible] hand on my nose as we rode up Wm Vaughn sat [illegible] we got to the fence, Inman could not open the door [illegible] Inman and I were there Don't [illegible] if the Jackson was there or not Larkins and [illegible] had their pistols out when in the hall Inman [illegible] will go back " Did not hear him speak to Alex [illegible] enough to have heard him Mrs Vaughn [illegible] away, so did Frank Don t know how far [illegible] Frank told him to stop Frank did [illegible] till Larkins commenced advancing [illegible] Resumed.—[Witness explained [illegible] from diagram] Did not see Alex [illegible] nor Frank Did not see him make a motion [illegible] his pistol till he fired

[illegible]—I said Vaughn shot rapidly

The testimony of James Kinkead was in substance the same as that of Welch. The defence introduced evidence [illegible] the general reputation of Frank Vaughn [illegible] and quietness was good and that Larkins' reputation in other respects was bad. Witnesses however [illegible] as to these facts Dr. Barclay testified [illegible] of the wounds was through the head and fatal; [illegible] breast and one in the left arm the [illegible] necessarily fatal. There was no testimony [illegible] that of Welch and Kinkead as to the shooting [illegible] from the evidence that there was an [illegible] Frank Vaughn and Larkins The [illegible] conducted by A. C Gibbs, Prosecuting Attorney [illegible] by W. G. Johnson and E. O McCown for [illegible] L. Stout and S Huelat for the defence [illegible] being out about one hour returned a verdict of not guilty.

WALK OBSTRUCTIONS.—Two or three parties have [illegible] brought before the Recorder on charges of [illegible] the side walks It is quite probable that [illegible] the charges in the strict construction [illegible] But we wish to suggest that the Common Council either pay no attention to such offences [illegible] all similar offenders indiscriminately. [illegible] two or three hundred places in this city [illegible] where the side walks are obstructed [illegible] night and from day to day in such [illegible] subject the parties to fine, if complained of [illegible] far from where the parties sued do business [illegible] no less than a dozen obstructions [illegible] carpet, for instance hanging [illegible] across the side walk; quarters of beef [illegible] goods of all sorts put out [illegible] display; side walk bridges; scales for weighing [illegible] and this that and the other, with [illegible] in the trouble of enumeration All along First street, Second street and all the cross [illegible] conditions prevailed. We could mention three places where foot passengers if they [illegible] times a day for the week through [illegible] obstructions and [illegible] along [illegible] out into the street at least forty [illegible] We can mention places where [illegible] the side walk nearly a whole day [illegible] other places where goods 'in transit' are [illegible] left from morning till night, and the next day [illegible] We can mention places where [illegible] and trash and wagons etc. are left [illegible] in the street Almost any day we [illegible] men who if complained of could be fined for [illegible] of the ordinance We do not say they ought [illegible] fined; but if the law is to be enforced against [illegible] should be enforced against all. The Street [illegible] could not do a better public service than to [illegible] a few days in fetching up those who disregard the [illegible] public convenience

[illegible]—We take from the Advocate the following

[illegible] Wilbur will occupy the pulpit of the Hall [illegible] M. E. Church from Sabbath to Sabbath at eleven [illegible] M., until further notice The Sabbath School at Hall street will meet at 9 o clock A M

The Monthly Missionary Concert, with interesting [illegible] the Sabbath School will be held to morrow [illegible] at the M. E. Church corner of Third and Taylor [illegible]

[illegible] attendance at the prayer meetings class [illegible] and public services of the M E Church in this [illegible] gratifying tokens of good to the friends of religion [illegible] still the pastor Rev Wm Roberts received [illegible] to the membership and some that are [illegible] religion

[illegible] quarterly meeting for East Portland charge [illegible] this (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o clock at [illegible] M. E. Church, with preaching by the presiding elder [illegible] Rev G. W. Todd, pastor of the M E Church at Oregon City, has brought about some important improvements [illegible] with the church building repainting [illegible] arrangements for heating etc. Bro. Todd, as [illegible] enjoying a good degree of religious prosperity [illegible] the Oregon City charge

[illegible] IN THE FIELD.—We see that John [illegible] is bound to have a hard time of it The Can[illegible] fully in the field against him, armed with [illegible] resolutions and kid gloves. This alone constitutes a formidable opposition at which John would [illegible] stand appalled—if he knew it. Yesterday [illegible] at a place up town that John has other competitors to buck saw against. Two squaws had procured a job of wood sawing and [illegible] into it with a vigor which gave promise [illegible] Now, indeed, we are in a dilemma—we [illegible] which of the two contending parties to warn [illegible] We did have strong hopes that the [illegible] pitted alone against the Mongolian [illegible] If we only knew whether the squaws [illegible] of in league with John Chinaman or [illegible] we should understand the situation [illegible] But alas, we know not What dangers may [illegible] that were not dreamed of in the philosophy of [illegible] of the Horny Hand! We suggest to the [illegible] lawyers that as a prudent precautionary [illegible] also against the squaws This [illegible] and is getting decidedly interesting

[illegible]—From our regular correspondent Novem[illegible]

The Webfoot is reported by the Pilots to be outside the [illegible] She is without a pilot yet the pilot boat having [illegible] to get out all day

The [illegible] Elwood is laying in port, waiting for a favorable opportunity to get out

The son of Capt. Riddell who a few weeks ago shot himself [illegible] is recovering from his wounds

Mr J H. Knapp, the President of the Columbia River Towing Co, arrived on the Oriflamme from San [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] belonging to the Adeline Elwood [illegible] Hugh Winnell having deserted the ship has been arrested and confined in the jail

[illegible] Divers was arrested to-day for an attempt to [illegible] entrance to the house of his wife whom he had [illegible] She proposes not to be bothered by him any [illegible]

[illegible] HERE IS A CHALLENGE.—Mr W G Scoggin of this county has issued a challenge which may interest [illegible] men of the State He proposes to run his horse Jack Miner, for one thousand dollars aside against any [illegible] horses, geldings or mares in the State within the next six weeks, over the track on the east side of the [illegible] either of the following races Single dash of one [illegible] or one mile and repeat; or best two in three or best three in five or two mile heats and repeat or a single dash of four miles If the heat races he will allow each of the accepting horses to run one heat, and the other to run the next that is say—one to run and the other to rest, time about. This is a challenge extraordinary and will doubtless make a stir among the racing men of the State.

LOCAL BREVITIES.—Mrs Ben Todd will lecture to-morrow evening at Oro Fino Theater

John Whittle was fined $25 yesterday by the Recorder, for defacing a gate

Ah Wan and Ah Chow charged with the Alder street Chinese murder were yesterday committed by Recorder [illegible]

[illegible] weather upon an average, the temperature being about 60° with no rain

The river is falling again and is scarcely higher than before the rain set in

Work on the United States Post office building still goes on, and will not be suspended till the weather changes for the worse

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—Most of the day yesterday [illegible] in the auditing of bills and accounts. The bid of A. M. Sharkey to repaint the court house being the lowest, was accepted on condition that he file a bond to double the sum Sharkey's bid is $350

ORO FINO THEATER.—The tragedy of Lucretia Borgia was much better played last evening than when the same company played it before Mrs Carter gave to her representation of Lucretia a deeper and better sustained intensity of passion The other characters were in like manner improved and the entire rendering would have been creditable to a much more pretentious theater

The great attraction of the season however will be offered to night—the great sensational and spectacular play of The Nick of the Woods with beautiful new scenery and appointments startling positions etc The afterpiece will be The Pleasant Neighbor

MUSIC ON THE PLAZA.—Programme for Saturday November 6th 1869

1 Storming of Duppler Mall
2 The Chase Polka.
3 Duet from Norma Mira Norma Bellini
4 The Portuguese Hymn
5 Sounds from Home; Gungle
6 Duet from Martha Holy Mother guide his footsteps Wallace
7 March of all Nations
8 23d Infantry March

DISTRICT CONVENTION M. E. PREACHERS.—The convention of M E preachers of the Portland District met at Dayton on the 26th ult Among other matters of importance were resolutions adopted providing for the holding of a District Sunday School Convention at Oregon City on the first Wednesday of May 1870 and in favor of the total prohibition of the making and vending of intoxicating liquors McMinnville was selected as the place for holding the next convention of preachers The session lasted only a day and a half and the attendance was small

PROGRESS OF THE RAILROAD.—Under the vigorous hand of Ben Holladay and his superintendent of construction the railroad is progressing rapidly The workmen have to push the truck loads of rails out on the line as they are wanted yet the work of track laying has already reached nearly to the machine shops situated over two miles from East Portland It was expected that the rails would be laid last evening as far as the shops The work will go on more rapidly when the locomotive arrives

FROM VICTORIA.—The steamship Gussie Telfair sailed from Victoria at six o clock on Thursday morning Telegraphic orders were sent from here for her (or the Geo S Wright as the case might be) to tow the Webfoot in and in case no river steamer should be at Astoria to tow her to Portland Later—the Telfair arrived at this port yesterday and not having received the order sent from this place did not take the Webfoot in tow

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—The first promenade concert by the Philharmonic Society last evening, was an exceeding pleasant affair meeting fully the expectations not only of the public but of the Society The musical performances as usual were of a high order of excellence and the intervals being spent by the audience in chatting promenading or taking refreshments none could well fail of having a cheerful and happy evening

RE APPEARANCE OF MRS BATES.—We are pleased to announce the re-appearance of this popular actress on Monday evening We are not informed as to the particular role in which she will appear but feel confident that whatever play may be announced the presence of Mrs. Bates will be sufficient to pack the house

VANCOUVER.—We learn from the Register that in the case of the tie vote between Messrs McMillen and Eddings the latter in drawing was the fortunate or unfortunate man And that Dr C C Cayles of Monticello is circulating a petition to open a road between Monticello and Vancouver

INSTALLATION.—The following officers were installed yesterday Nov 5th in Concordia Grove No 1 U A O D at Good Templar s Hall by A Jubitz D D G A A Staeglich N A Dr Schumacher V A G Simmons Secretary H Bohin[illegible] Treasurer H Weber J G

THE PLAINS ACROSS.—Two spring wagons were on the bank of the river at East Portland yesterday which had come all the way the plains across from Cincinnati, this season—first to California and thence to Oregon

UNLADEN.—The Hillsborough has finished unlading at East Portland and now lies at the steamship dock on this side She will take part cargo from this city and one hundred tons from Springville

THE WEBFOOT.—The Telfair saw the Webfoot at anchor off Sand Island but did not tow her in from which it would seem the instructions from here did not reach Victoria before the hour of sailing

PREPARING.—We noticed yesterday that Sheriff Ziebor was setting up some stoves in the court house, and making other preparations for the comfort of the court and attendants, next week

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—A Discourse will be delivered on Sunday morning November 7th at the Baptist Church by the Pastor Rev E C Anderson Subject—Euthanasia

The Fisheries of Alaska

[illegible] the Alaska Times

Among the many industries natural to the coast of Alaska none is more prolific of wealth to the enterprising merchants of the Pacific, or eastern slope than the fisheries—the cod halibut salmon and herring which abound in immense quantities from Tongass in the south to Behring's Straits in the west. It was one of the strong reasons set forth for the purchase by Mr Sumner in his magnificent speech on the cession of Alaska. Notwithstanding the fabulous statements made by him in relation to the Fisheries statements which many affected at least to disbelieve the truth of all has been proven and testimony is ample derived since transfer and by our own people traders who have engaged in the fur seal and other fur interests.

We who live at Sitka and thence down by way of the Stickeen, Casson and Tongas know the prolificness of the salmon fishery and its ultimate importance and value.

The Russian American Commercial company—one of the few associations of men who have shown enterprise—have an extensive fishery at Gzersky, employing some twenty people in constant service from March to October. Last season owing to bad nets, and nets unsuitable for the catch, they only put up 600 barrels of Salmon. This year although the season is not ended they have put up and prepared for the Atlantic market 1,000 barrels of salmon.

Baronovitch, at Casson last year with the aid of only four men, put up in splendid order 700 barrels of salmon and had to cease the catch ere the season was half over, he having no more barrels to fill. On the 7th of August, last year the Saginaw, Capt. Mitchell, called at this place. Baronovitch had ceased work some three weeks before but at Mitchell's request he took his two boats and seine to catch a supply for the ship, and in fifteen minutes returned with them loaded to the guards with beautiful salmon. He felt confident that had his barrels not failed he could have packed seven hundred more.

A new method of putting up salmon has recently been experimented on by the Columbia river fishermen, and this year we understand they are putting up great quantities of them in cans, the same as lobsters, oysters etc.

This course might be pursued here with great advantage, and its facilities for its successful prosecution are abundant. We hope some of our citizens will engage in it another season. Fish are plenty, labor is abundant and cheap, transportation below is low, and the price of fish remunerative. It will help the prosperity of the town, give work to our needy Russian population, and give still more character to the worth of the territory.

There are besides a hundred other fisheries of salmon, where, added to splendid locations for buildings, are good anchorages for vessels. Hundreds of fresh water streams come leaping down the mountains into the [illegible] and into these in the [illegible] they [illegible] that often they blacken the water. [illegible] known these facts to the world for [illegible] believed capital will surely seek an investment and acquire [illegible]

[illegible] West [illegible] Sitka to [illegible] and even to [illegible] abound. And [illegible] who come down from that coast [illegible] this fishery [illegible] of engaged in this [illegible] of preserving [illegible] fish for the San Francisco market, an enter[illegible] The ex[illegible] with ordinary [illegible] can be [illegible] as further be[illegible]

But [illegible] of most moment [illegible] as a people and a nation.

It is [illegible] known that for years the cod [illegible] have been failing until now [illegible] is merely nominal. More than one half of the great fleet of vessels formerly engaged in it are now lying idle in the harbors of Boston, Salem, Lynn, Newbury port and Marblehead, or they have gone into the business of carriers. There is to-day a hardy population of fishermen, who are cast adrift upon the world, earning a living in ways illy suited to them, and all because Othello's occupation is gone. The vessels have proved and are proving a ruinous investment to their owners, not earning enough to pay a reasonable interest on their cost. Again, this industry has been invaluable to Massachusetts. It [illegible] one of her great sources of wealth and it built up nearly all her seaport towns. Lately the question of procuring some treaty stipulations with Great Britain has been [illegible] by those immediately interested whereby the United States can have the right of fishing for cod on the coast of Labrador. And it is confidently expected by many that this right will be soon secured.

But why obligate ourselves to a foreign nation to secure that which we have at home? As fine cod fishery banks as exist in the known world lie all along the coast of Alaska, from the Peninsula of Oonalaska, through Norton's and Bristol bay Sound into Behring's Straits. One great difficulty which always existed on the Newfoundland banks is the great depth of water, which ranges from seventy to ninety fathoms. The banks along our coast only average from thirty to fifty fathoms. The fish, too, are of equally as fine a quality, and of good size.

There are, we believe, this season, some ten or twelve vessels formerly Cape Ann fishermen, which have been brought around the Horn, engaged in the cod fishery along the coast of Alaska. We know they will do well. Recently one little vessel has arrived at Port Townsend from the East.

There is no reason why the idle fleets on the Eastern coast can not be profitably employed on this [illegible] coast. They are generally calculated for a freight capacity of one hundred to two hundred tons, and easily load with freight at Boston or New York for San Francisco and thus earn enough for running expenses. Starting in the summer or early autumn, they can reach San Francisco in season to procure an outfit and proceed on their cruise by March or April. It is only changing the base of operation. Instead of the East supplying the West, it will be vice versa. The price of fish shipped by steamers will be but nominally increased, while we shall, as a people, have the satisfaction of being independent of all foreign powers for a supply of one of the great staples of food.

We trust that the Eastern fishermen will wake up to the importance of the industry, and exhibit that energy which has always characterized New England, by sending out to Alaska a fleet of vessels to engage in this certainly lucrative business. The market is the world. We are on the highway of the Eastern and Western hemispheres. Not only is the United States to be supplied but China and Japan with their millions of people, stand ready to buy.

[illegible] then, to the speedy inception of this enterprise. Then will not only Alaska prosper, and the country in general be benefitted but we shall feel proud that we are so opulent in our resources of strength, and have on the Pacific coast, as well as on the Atlantic, a brave set of men, ready to man our naval fleets in case hereafter there be another insurrection or a foreign war.

The Physics of the Gulf Stream

James Carrol, who has published some papers on this subject, speculates thus as to the [illegible] as a heat carrying medium. The total quantity of water, he says, conveyed by this stream is probably equal to a stream 50 miles broad and 1,000 feet deep, flowing at the rate of four miles an hour. And the mean temperature of the entire mass of moving water [illegible] 65 degrees at the moment of leaving the Gulf. [illegible] we are warranted to conclude that the Gulf Stream, before it [illegible] northern journey, is on an average cooled down to at least 40 degrees [illegible] it loses 25 degrees of heat. Each cubic foot of water, therefore, in this case carried from the tropics for distribution upwards of 1,500 units of heat, or 1 158,000 foot-pounds. According to the above estimate of the size and velocity of the stream 5,575,000,000 cubic feet of water are conveyed from the Gulf per hour or 133 816 320,000 000 cubic feet daily. Consequently, the total quantity of heat transferred from the equatorial regions per day by the stream amounts to 154,959,300,000,000,000,000 foot pounds. From observations made by Sir John Herschel and M Pouillet on the direct heat of the sun it is found that were no heat absorbed by the atmosphere, about 83 foot pounds per second would fall upon a square foot of surface placed at right angles to the sun's rays. Mr Meech estimates that the quantity of heat cut off by the atmosphere is equal to about 22 per cent of the total amount received from the sun. M Pouillet estimates the loss at 24 per cent. Taking the former estimate, 64 74 foot-pounds per second will therefore be the quantity of heat falling on a square foot of the earth's surface when the sun is in the zenith. And were the sun to remain stationary in the zenith for twelve hours, 2,796 768 foot-pounds would fall upon the surface.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by R. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that [illegible] is the safest and best method [illegible] that has ever [illegible]

It fastens with [illegible] and is the [illegible] and speedily [illegible] to be entirely free from the [illegible] which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant and is convenient safe and secure

It is easy to change [illegible] style for coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use
